DR. PATTON'S CASE.

Rev. F. H. Smith Says His Words Were Correctly Reported.

ASKED NOT TO PRINT THE ADDRESS.

He is Willing to Swear to the Accuracy of the Stenographer's Record---Dr. Patton Expressed the Doctrine of "Future Probation, Pure and Simple," Says Mr. Smith, and Was So Understood at the Time.

New York, Oct. 21.-Since Dr. Briggs' inaugural address there has been nothing in a theological way that has stirred the controversialists as much as the reproduction of Dr. Patton's sanctification views of 1887. By this time 5,200 Presbyterlan clergymen have read Dr. Patton's expressions, probably with surprise and some consternation. Very likely what Dr. Patton said is to have as far reaching effects as what Dr. Briggs Judging from the tone of the discussion that has already sprung up if any other Presbyterian had uttered Dr. Patton's reported views he would be in sure danger of investigation. Dr. Patton's orthodoxy is not likely to be officially questioned, but what he said at Princeton in 1887 is to be used by the defence in the Briggs trial, and it will be a formidable weapon. It may acquit him. If it does not it can easily be used to show the mysicity in an angleichle. to show the majority in an undesirable light—expelling one man and retaining another for holding the same opinions.

This is supposing Dr. Patton to have

This is supposing Dr. Patton to have been correctly reported. He says he was not. The Rev. Mr. McQueen, who was the stenographer, positively attests the correctness of his notes. The Rev. Mr. Frank Hyatt Smith, who took the address in long hand, corroborates Mr. McQueen. Both say they are ready to make oath to their statements. MR. SMITH RECALLS THE ADDREST.

Mr. Smith, who is now pastor of prosperous Congregational church in Cambridge, Mass., came to New York yesterday and gave out the following account of the address and his connec-

"The Philadelphian society at Prince-ton," said Mr. Smith, "published a pe-riodical called the *Philadelphian Maga-*zine, of which I was the senior editor in 1887. We published, every issue the tion with it:

zine, of which I was the senior editor in 1887. We published, every issue, the address of some professor before the society. After Dr. Patton's remarks Dr. Duffield came to me and said:—
"'Those views of Dr. Patton were very broad. You had better not print them without showing him the proofs.'
"Accordingly, when the report had been written out and set up I took the proofs to Dr. Patton, with a request to be allowed to print the address. He had no reason to be surprised at the request. He knew very well what the custom had been. Nevertheless he exhibited annoyance and excitement and said: 'Oh, no; you musn't print that. It would no; you musn't print that. It would injure the church. I was speaking as Dr. Patton and not as a Princeton pro-fessor. I can't allow you to print a word of it.'

'I notice that Dr. Patton'says in his "I notice that Dr. Patton says in his interview with the Herald that he objected to the publication on the ground that the address lacked literary form. He said nothing of that kind in my hearing. The only objections he mentioned to me were the possible injury to the church and the fact that he was about to write an article on the same subject for a New York magazine. PROMISED NOT TO PRINT IT.

"Of course I promised not to print the address if he wished it suppressed, but without my knowledge one of the but without my knowledge one of the other editors of the magazine inserted a paragraph to the effect that Dr. Patton's address had been held over for another issue. Thereupon Dr. Patton called me before him and took me severely to task for the paragraph. 'Now,' he said, 'the public will be expecting the address to be printed and I would not have it printed for any consideration. It would injure the church.'

"I kept my proofs. I believe they were the only evidence in existence. It was I who sent them to the Evangelist. I had no personal feeling against Dr. Patton, but it seemed to me outrageous that he should be forcing the prosecution of Dr. Briggs for views which he himself had publicly avowed. I thought it was time for the truth to be known.

"As said on Saturday, the first paragraph in the quotation which it gave from the address expresses the doctrine of future probation, pure and simple. I see that Dr. Patton says he was defin. of future probation, pure and simple. I see that Dr. Patton says he was defining the doctrine of purgatory, and not his belief in it. He says that a colon should be inserted before the first senshould be inserted before the first sentence in the paragraph. Then it will appear that the paragraph you quote is only an explanation of wha has gone before. If Dr. Patton's orthodoxy has got to where it hangs by a colon it must be frail. Examination of the address will show that the foregoing sentence and the first sentence of the quotation cannot well be connected by a colon or anything else.

cannot well be connected by a colon or anything else.

"There may have been persons in the audience that night who got the impression that Dr. Patton now tries to give, but I never heard of them. The address was freely commented upon among the students. All whom I heard speak of it had exactly the idea that Mr. McQueen and I had—namely, that Dr. Patton had clearly given in his adherence to the doctrine of sanctification after death—the same doctrine for which Dr. Briggs is now being tried.

15 BRIGGS 15 BRIGETICAL SO IS PATTON. IF BRIGGS IS HERETICAL SO IS PATTON,

"There is no doubt that if Dr. Briggs "There is no doubt that if Dr. Briggs is heretical then Dr. Patton is hertical also on the strength of that first paragraph. That is not all. If I or any other student in Princeton had upon examination professed other views given in that address we would not have been allowed to be graduated. He says: 'I am pretty sure that there is no doctrine that is put in jeopardy by the simple affirmation of this belief in future probation.' That is a direct contradiction of the theology taught at Princeton. At the end of his address he says: he says:

Those who hear the gospel in this world will not have another chance hereafter; those who do not hear it or have no opportunity here will have some chance in the future.

Smith's production of the report at this juncture as the most valuable assistance they have yet received.

Dr. Patton was seen at Princeton yes

Dr. Patton was seen at Princeton yes-terday, but declined to make any fur-ther remarks on the controversy.
Dr. David Swing, of Chicago, who sev-enteen years ago was prosecuted by Dr. Patton for saying what Dr. Patton him-self said in 1887, commented on the sin-cular situation, with some astisfaction. gular situation with some satisfaction yesterday. He hid known of the exist-ence of the report since the address was delivered, but at the request of his in-formant had refrained from saying any-formant had refranced from saying anything about it.

"Patton will deny the correctness of the report," said Dr. Swing, "or he will write a note—he'll do that anyway—in which he will say just what he told the student, that he spoke as Patton the man, and not as Patton the Presbyterian. He is a man who doesn't think there is any inconsistency in that. Now, according to this report as printed, Patton, as long ago as three years, hoped that Socrates would be saved. He arraigned me because I got Socrates mereraigned me because I got Secrates mere-ly on the border."

Our own Confession of Faith, which some think very straitlaced, does hold out that hope, although it does say that the heathen cannot be saved by framing their lives according to the light of nature.
